

Knowland Refuses To Limit Scope of Labor Legislation

Turns Down Plan Offered By Sen. Ives

Washington — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) today rejected a suggestion that an omnibus 1958 labor bill be limited to non-controversial provisions. Knowland was the opening witness as the senate labor subcommittee began its promised three weeks of hearing preparatory to drafting a broad labor reform bill.

Before the Californian could explain his proposals, however, Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) said he believes only a moderate measure could clear congress this session.

Knowland said he certainly was not in favor of an extreme bill.

But when Ives explained that, by moderate, he meant only a bill containing provisions that were virtually non-controversial, Knowland disagreed.

Points to Abuses
He said the abuses and wrongdoing uncovered by the racketeering committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) demanded more than that.

Ives, the senior Republican on the subcommittee, insisted that a bill loaded with controversial items would have little or no chance for house action in the remaining months of the 1958 session, even if it cleared the senate.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), the subcommittee chairman, began the hearings by declaring he recognized a mandate to bring legislation to the senate floor.

Knowland declared that failure "to live up to our responsibilities" after McClellan's committee provided "unconcealed evidence of widespread corruption, a r r o g a n c e and abuses in the operations of internal union affairs will stand as a permanent indictment of the record of the 85th congress."

Vital Legislation

But Knowland insisted there is no more important legislative matter that can be brought before Congress this year than legislation which will assure the establishment and continuance of democratic process in union affairs to the 18 million men and women who now belong, and to those in the future who will belong, to organized labor unions.

Knowland explained in detail his proposals, which include secret voting on union officers, provisions for removal or recall of union officers, the right of referendum on internal union affairs, strike ballots, limitations on trusteeships of union locals, a prohibition against "monopolistic allocation of territories" among unions, and anti-discrimination provisions governing union members.

McClellan, scheduled as today's other witness, said in his statement that his committee had found "ordinary betrayal, union, and justifications of power and willful trespass upon the rights of others" in its labor-management investigations.

Post-Crescent Receives Two National Honors

Becomes First Paper In History to Win Four Years in Row

The Post-Crescent has won two first place awards in a competition for best newspaper promotions sponsored by Editor and Publisher, trade magazine of the newspaper industry.

This is the fourth consecutive year the newspaper has won a first place and the Post-Crescent becomes the first paper in the contest's history to win four years in a row.

Picnic Promotion
David Lindsey, promotion manager, will receive the awards tonight in Pittsburgh as part of the National Newspaper Promotion association awards dinner held in conjunction with the association's annual convention.

The awards are presented annually by the trade journal to newspapers producing outstanding promotions in various classifications. The Post-Crescent submitted three entries and won first places for the best national advertising presentation and the best retail advertising promotion for papers of 50,000 circulation or less.

The national advertising entry was the annual picnic promotion.

Unions Affected by Two Court Rulings

Washington — The supreme court today ruled an employer may not insist on a contract clause to recognize the local union only. They decided 5-4 in holding that the provision violated the anti-discrimination provisions of the national labor relations act.

Rhee's Liberals Retain Control of ROK House

Margin Much Less Than Two-Thirds Elderly Leader's Party Anticipated

Seoul — President Syngman Rhee's liberals have retained control of South Korea's national assembly but with much less than the two-thirds majority they hoped for. With only four races undecided after the national election Friday, the liberals had won 123 places in the 233-seat legislature. This was only 6 more than the 117 required for control and far short of the 156 (two-thirds) they needed to block Vice President Chang Myun's right to succession in case of Rhee's death.

Chang's Democrats won 78 seats. Independents took 27 and the Unity party 1.

Unfairness Charged
Democratic Leader Choung Prung Ok charged that Rhee's regime "totally wrecked the fairness of Korea's election through undemocratic acts."

Choung made the charge as counting was suspended in the four remaining races because of alleged interference by liberal candidates and election officials.

Choung declared the liberals and the Rhee government had wrecked the election by "such barbarous acts as delaying the counting, reversal of counted ballots and ouster of legitimate opposition witnesses at counting places."

The election results were seen as something of a victory for the Democrats, who ran strong in the cities while the liberals won in the countryside.

Requests 2-Star Rank for Zwicker

Washington — President Eisenhower today asked the senate to bestow permanent two-star rank on Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, once characterized by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), as unfit to wear the uniform.

Zwicker now commands the 20th Reserve Corps at Ft. Hayes, Ohio. He holds the temporary rank of major general.

One of McCarthy's last acts was to delay Zwicker's promotion to permanent brigadier general and temporary two-star rank early last year.

Lleras Camargo Colombian Chief

33 Persons Killed On Way to Polls By Terrorist Bands

Bogota, Colombia — Long split into bitter factions, most of Colombia's voters united to elect Alberto Lleras Camargo president yesterday. Terrorist attacks pointed up his most pressing problem.

Thirty-three persons, mostly peasants on their way to the polls, were killed by roving terrorist bands. The terrorists killed 25 in an attack on two truckloads of voters near Tolima, in central Colombia, and shot down others at Huila and Cauca, in the west.

Troops and police kept order in the rest of the nation. Most city dwellers heeded government appeals to forget about staging victory celebrations that might flare into riots.

Bandit Center
Tolima has long been the scene of bandit raids resulting from the bitter civil war that split the liberals and the conservatives for years.

The two parties finally united in 1957 to throw out Dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla and then agree on Lleras as a unity candidate under a political truce.

The 52-year-old liberal party leader had served as president in 1945-46. He is to be followed in the presidency by a conservative in 1962.

Jorge Leyva, a Bogota lawyer, challenged the truce and ran against Lleras with the backing of extreme conservatives. But he admitted his candidacy was only a token stand against former President Laureano Gomez, the conservative leader who threw most of his party behind Lleras.

Leyva conceded more than an hour before the polls closed yesterday. An estimated four million men and women voted.

Tabulations from about 75 per cent of the 30,000 polling places today gave Lleras 2,108,000 votes to 476,000 for Leyva.

Menominee Tribe Bill May Come Up Today in Senate

Washington — The controversial senate-house conference report calling for termination of federal control over Menominee Indian affairs in Wisconsin in 1960 with the tribe footing half the bill may come up for approval in the senate today.

The report will be in for a rough time, if Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) has his way.

Proxmire Saturday described the report as grossly unfair and said he would fight for its rejection.

"If we achieve rejection I will press for returning the bill to conference with instructions from the senate to provide for 100 per cent federal payment of termination costs and a termination date on June, 1961, instead of Dec. 31, 1960," he said.

Proxmire asserted that the committee's recommendation that the government and the tribe split the costs of termination "is a clear breach of faith with the Menominee tribe."

Army Continental Commander Named

Washington — President Eisenhower today designated Lt. Gen. Bruce Cooper Clarke, commanding general of the United States 7th army in Europe, to head the United States Continental Army command with the rank of general.

In the continental post Clarke will succeed Gen. Willard Gordon Wyman, who is retiring July 31. Wyman, whose present permanent rank is major general, will go on the retired list as full general.

Oshkosh — Robert Bullock, 29, who stays at an Oshkosh hotel, was arraigned on two counts of armed robbery this morning. He was captured by Oshkosh police within an hour after the first of two armed robberies Saturday night. Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsinger set preliminary examination for 1:30 Friday afternoon and Bullock was jailed in default of $7,500 bond.

The defendant was charged with the armed robbery of the Piggly Wiggly supermarket on Ohio street, from which he got $350, and of Bobby's drive-in restaurant, from which he got $40.

Mrs. Elda Severson, operator of the drive-in, said Bullock came into the restaurant earlier in the afternoon for a beer and then came back about 7:15 and ordered food. After her husband left the restaurant, she said Bullock pulled a pistol from a jacket and ordered her to give him the money from the cash register.

Wasn't Kidding
She said she was acquainted with Bullock and thought he was joking at first. When he pulled out the gun and cocked it, she said she knew he was not kidding. She gave him $40 and he drove toward Oshkosh.

A few minutes later Bullock stopped at the supermarket and picked out some groceries. As the girl at the checkout counter, Susie Kotschi, was checking out the groceries, he ordered her to put the money from the cash register into the shopping bag, police said.

When she hesitated, he opened his jacket so she could see the gun tucked into his belt. She put $350 into the shopping bag, she told police.

Police, who had been alerted about an hour earlier by Mrs. Severson, spotted Bullock's car on the Main street bridge and apprehended him. The money was found in the bag, along with the pistol.

Bullock admitted to police he stole the gun from his stepfather, Carl Semholz, route 1, Oshkosh, and he had been drinking. He is married and has three children.

Says One Service Could Block Data Sent to Another

Washington — Gen. Omar N. Bradley told congress today the present military organization has made it possible for one service to block the flow of information or requests between the defense department and field commanders.

Bradley testified before the house armed services committee in support of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization proposals. These include changes which Eisenhower said are necessary to let orders go from the defense secretary and joint chiefs of staff direct to the commanders of unified forces in the field, without passing through the hands of the secretary of the army, navy, or air force. Such secretaries have acted as "executive agents" of the defense department in the chain of command.

Points to Examples
Bradley, a five-star general who commanded the 12th army group in World War II and later served as army chief of staff and first chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told the committee:

"I understand that in the past there have been occasions where information or suggestions from a unified commander were retained by the executive agent without the joint chiefs of staff being aware of the request or the information sent in by the unified commander."

"There have also been occasions where orders were transmitted to unified commanders from above without the executive agent being informed. This also leads to confusion."

Bradley spoke up strongly for more authority for the secretary of defense.

Meeting This Year Improbable

BY JOSEPH E. DYMAN

Copenhagen — NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak said today the 15-nation North Atlantic alliance would "present a solidly united front" if an east-west summit conference materializes. But conviction grew here that there would be no top-level parley before next year.

Spaak opened the 3-day foreign minister's meeting in Copenhagen's Christianborg palace with a warning against Soviet political, economic and psychological moves designed to weaken western unity.

Similar cautions were issued by Luxembourg's Joseph Bech, chairman of the NATO council, and Danish Prime Minister H. C. Hansen, host to the conference. Spaak called on the alliance to persevere in its efforts to maintain peace and said "everyone in the west who desires to live in freedom should be aware of the danger he would run if there was the slightest weakening of the alliance."

Would Ease Tension
Hansen said NATO would fail in its responsibilities if it "did not explore all the possibilities of bringing about a relaxation of present international tension."

Bech, Spaak and Hansen all made clear the west still hopes for a meaningful summit parley and first chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told the committee:

"I understand that in the past there have been occasions where information or suggestions from a unified commander were retained by the executive agent without the joint chiefs of staff being aware of the request or the information sent in by the unified commander."

"There have also been occasions where orders were transmitted to unified commanders from above without the executive agent being informed. This also leads to confusion."

State YGOP Declines Davis Endorsement

Opponents of Proposal Say Group Would Look Foolish if Regular Convention Backs Another Man

Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The state Young Republican convention declined Sunday to endorse former Rep. Glenn Davis of Waukesha for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator.

Davis supporters Saturday spearheaded passage of a resolution permitting YGOP convention endorsement of individual candidates, but couldn't coax the convention to follow this up Sunday with an endorsement of Davis.

Opponents of the endorsement argued that the Young Republicans would look foolish if they endorsed one candidate and the Wisconsin Republican convention next month decided to endorse someone else.

Davis, the convention keynote speaker here Saturday, has said he is not seeking the GOP senatorial nomination. He has indicated, however, that he will run for the nomination if the state GOP convention next month endorses him. Convention endorsement would mean financial support by the party in the Republican primary election.

The battle against endorsing Davis apparently was led by supporters of Roland Steinle, former Wisconsin Supreme Court justice, most prominent of the three men who have declared their candidacies for the GOP senatorial nomination.

Endorse Incumbents

Although the YGOP convention declined to endorse senate candidates, delegates accepted a resolution endorsing all incumbent Republican officeholders on the state and national levels.

The delegates adopted a resolution commending the administration of Gov. Thomson and urging him to seek reelection. Thomson has not made a formal announcement of his intentions in this year's elections.

Other YGOP resolutions: Opposed U. S. foreign aid to communist nations and satellites.

Lauded the FBI on its anniversary and praised the work of the House Un-American Activities and Internal Security committees.

Urged adoption of the Hoover commission report and of the self-help dairy farm legislation proposed by Rep. Melvin Laird (R-Wis.).

Proposed legislation to give a 30 per cent income tax credit for educational expenditures of anyone supporting the schooling of a student beyond the 12th grade.

Miss Corrine Pier, Milwaukee, was elected secretary of the Wisconsin Federation of Young Republicans. Raymond Huegel, Madison, was chosen YGOP high school director, while Gerald Menzel of Stevens Point was reelected as the YGOP's college director.

Delegates, in district caucuses, chose district chairmen and vice chairmen. Included were:

Sixth—Richard Larson, West Bend, and William Stieger, Oshkosh.

Seventh—James Krems, Stevens Point, and Joseph Wietzki, Wausau.

Eighth—Harvey Rowe, Sturgeon Bay, and Jerome Gresenz, Appleton.

New Element Discovered by U. S. Scientists

Challenge Previous Claim Made by International Group

Gallatinburg, Tenn., Feb. 5.—A top level Berkeley, Calif., nuclear scientist today announced the "definite discovery" of the heaviest element on record and at the same time challenged the findings of an international group which last year said it did approximately the same thing.

The element is nobelium, No. 102 in the roster of chemical elements. It is the tenth element heavier than uranium to be made by man. Uranium, No. 92 on the list, is the heaviest of the elements found in nature.

Atom Smasher

A tense 24-hour stretch of work with a new type of atom smasher at the University of California on April 18 yielded the new results. They were reported in a paper before the Conference on Reactions Between Complex Nuclei by Dr. Albert Ghiorso.

Dr. Ghiorso spoke for a team of Berkeley scientists, including Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, Nobel prize winner; Torbjorn Sikkeland, Norwegian nuclear researcher, and John R. Walton, Berkeley research chemist. These four comprised the Berkeley discovery team.

Dr. Seaborg has participated in the discovery of all the elements heavier than uranium. Dr. Ghiorso has taken part in some of the previous discoveries.

The Berkeley group used curium 246, one of the various forms of element 96, as the basic material for producing the new substance. They bombarded this with the nuclei of carbon atoms, using both ordinary carbon 12 and carbon 13, which is a heavy variety.

New Material

Out of this, they said, they got a variety of element 102, or curium 254. This new material, they added, is so radioactive that it decays into fermium or element 100 in a few minutes. The rate of decay or half life is three seconds.

Because the decay rate is too fast to permit direct chemical identification, Dr. Ghiorso said, the team used an indirect method. It measured the amount of fermium, the decay product, and from this deduced the presence of nobelium 254.

Left Kathy Hampton Tied, Naked in a Vacant House Without Food or Water

St. Louis.—The fate of a youth who left little Kathy Hampton tied and naked in a vacant house without food or water for three days rested today with a juvenile court judge.

God Kept Her

Kathy was back home with her parents and five brothers and sisters a few hours after built up strength surprising even to his adherents.

Upward Climb

All the same, there is a question whether his upward climb will have enough zing to outstrip the organization's man, Arthur T. McGonigle, in the short while before the May 20 primary. McGonigle, making his first run for office, is a Reading pretzel manufacturer.

At the moment, sentimentary expect the voting to be light, a circumstance that nearly always favors the organization.

The Republican organization is beating out a steady drumfire of criticism against Stassen, its main theme being that he is a carpetbagger, an epithet of political resentment on the part of native sons, toward the 51-year-old former Minnesota governor who resigned as President Eisenhower's disarmament aide to try his luck in Pennsylvania.

And the organization leaders keep talking—without naming names—about Stassen's getting out-of-state money help in his campaign, all aimed at blocking Vice President Nixon's presumed presidential aspirations in 1960.

Big Delegation

The man in the governor's chair traditionally has led the keystone state's big delegation to national conventions.

Stassen replied to the "carpetbagger" attack that he qualified as a Pennsylvania voter 10 years ago and asked, with a touch of asperity, whether all non-native Pennsylvanians should be returned to their original homes.

As for 1960, Stassen said, he would, if elected governor, "anticipate" that he would serve out his term but if a Republican president should be elected in 1960 he might be called upon to serve in Washington, maybe as secretary of state.

Stassen is using the same robbed and molested passersby technique that won him the governorship of Minnesota 20 years ago against what seemed big odds.

The mayor also said that nine times out of 10 the promoters of rock 'n' roll sessions do not hire enough policemen to take care of the crowds that attend and thus are not entitled to licenses.

"No such licenses will be issued in the future," the mayor said.

Numerous flare-ups kept police busy Saturday night and early yesterday following a jam session at the Boston arena.

Manager Paul Brown of the state-operated arena said "The next rock 'n' roll show at the arena will be presented over my dead body."

Police reported that gangs of teenagers left the arena after the jam session and attacked Stassen in the south end, where the arena is located, and in Roxbury and Back Bay.

Defense Attorneys T. Clement Gaughan and William F. Matne said Starkweather himself will be called to take the witness stand.

Other trial highlights could include the appearance of Starkweather's 14-year-old girl friend, Carl Ann Fugate.

Carl, also charged with murder as companion to Starkweather on his late-January killing spree, has been listed as a prosecution witness although she may not necessarily be called.

The trial itself could run upwards of three weeks.

Conviction would bring a sentence of life imprisonment or death in the electric chair. The jury sets the penalty under Nebraska law.

John Daly will run the show.

He'll have help from fellow newsmen Quincy Howe, Don Goddard, E. P. Morgan and Robert Fleming. The newsmen again will do an "interpretive" reporting job.

Jingo's Jewels: Lou Costello fell ill a few years ago and his studio was stuck with "Fireman, Save My Child," which was ready for production. Who'd the studio get as last minute subs for the famous Abbott and Costello? Buddy Hackett... and Hugh O'Brien. Fortunately for Wyatt Earp fans, Costello recovered and O'Brien was available for the Wyatt Earp role... Ann B. Davis, "Schultz" of the Bob Cummings TV show, was working in the Christmas card line of a Hollywood department store four years ago. It was an in-between-the-straw-circuits job.

Gwen Verdon, who had bit parts in a host of musicals and finally had to go to Broadway to become a star, will recreate her role in "Damn Yankees," opposite Tab Hunter, for the silver screen... It is expected two soap operas will replace "Matinee Theater" when "Theater" retires from TV in mid-June... Marlene Dietrich has agreed to give advice to the lovelorn and reminisce about past days in show business for the weekend radio feature, "Monitor".... Bette Davis plays a tough-talking talent agent in the upcoming new teleseries, "Paula Brand."

Inequities of the Property Tax

The classical objection to the income tax on administrative grounds is that it is difficult to assess and collect accurately. The classical argument favoring a sales tax is the fact that it is virtually self-administering. Wisconsin has not favored the sales tax to date, but it has since frontier times—and to a degree exceeded by few other states—relied on the property tax as a means of supporting basic public services.

It is not so generally known, perhaps because everybody is so accustomed to it, that there are glaring difficulties and inequities in the property tax—probably of greater consequence than those attending the exactions on incomes. A fact-finding staff report to the metropolitan affairs study commission in Milwaukee county usefully underscores them again.

Not only are the practices in assessment inconsistent between communities—but the assessment ratios among classifications of property are inconsistent and thus unfair to the naked eye, this report shows.

Generally, residential property gets the best break. Business and industrial property are valued at the highest ratios. This may suit the philosophical prejudices of many persons, but it is strictly illegal. The property tax by law must be assessed uniformly. The fact that it is demonstrably assessed without uniformity in the biggest taxing district of the state is of striking importance.

We bring this up not because we have any special doubts about the competence or the integrity of the local assessors in Milwaukee county. We have not. Indeed, they are probably of a higher order of training and experience than those of the state as a whole. And that is precisely the meaning of the problem. What goes on in Milwaukee doubtless goes on in the rest of the state, perhaps to a greater degree.

Stating the problem, as the Milwaukee commission has done, does not assure a solution. But it is helpful nevertheless. Strangely, little attention has been given by our local government leaders, by our legislature, by our recent governors, by the organs of public opinion in Wisconsin to one of the intrinsic deficiencies of a property tax system that even at this date provides half of all the public money spent by government in Wisconsin. Regrettably little public interest, moreover, is shown by such occasional proposals for improvement that are offered.

The first obligation of our legislative bodies ought to be an assurance of honest methods of taxation. Such recurrent investigations as that sponsored by the Milwaukee commission are prodding reminders that frequently we don't get them.

Federal Educational Aid

Sen. Proxmire has sponsored, co-sponsored or publicly backed a number of bills to facilitate federal aid to education. These include a bill to authorize federal appropriations of $25 per school age child, one to appropriate $1 billion a year for the states to raise their education standards, another which would award some 40,000 scholarships a year to college students, and a fourth aimed at permitting teachers to deduct educational expenses on income tax returns, a deduction since ruled valid by the Treasury department under existing law.

In addition the senator has a bill of his own which would simply return to each state a portion of the federal income taxes collected within that state if the funds are used for educational purposes. Sen. Proxmire explains the surface inconsistency of his acceptance of the first bills along with his own by saying that "I will support any good bill that gives federal aid to schools without federal control." A cynic might unkindly add that this is also one good way of getting political backing from all educational groups.

The Proxmire bill has two advantages which might lead to its passage; it leaves the use of the funds entirely up to the states as long as the uses further education, and the integration issue is not mentioned. Actually these apparent advantages might also lead to its defeat since integrationists have sometimes hoped to use the lure of federal aid as a means of ending race segregation in southern schools, and Congress may even have some scruples about giving away money for undefined purposes although it has done so often enough in the past.

The main problem with the junior senator's bill is that the 1½ per cent to be returned to the states in 1958, 3 per cent in 1959 and 5 per cent thereafter, would have to be picked up by the federal government elsewhere by raising income taxes, or the inflationary federal deficit would continue to rise. But it would put cash in the hands of state governments for educational purposes that, in Wisconsin, must come primarily from the personal property tax or the state-county-municipal income tax. This is similar to the recent change in Wisconsin which returns a larger percentage of income tax money for educational purposes to local governments but means that more money must therefore be raised by the state for its own purposes.

Sen. Proxmire readily admits that his bill would return more money to the richer states which would not help to equalize educational opportunities among the states. Moreover, those states which have spent more would get no more proportionately than those which have been stingy. In effect the federal government again would be acting as a collection agency for state governments unwilling to raise sufficient funds themselves.

The only federal-aid-to-education program that would make any sense would provide federal money only for those states that demonstrably do not have the financial wherewithal to provide their peoples with what can reasonably be considered a minimum standard of education according to today's thinking about educational needs. But of course, that would mean that most members of Congress would be voting money for other states than their own, which would be statesmanship, but politically difficult to swallow. Statesmanship is not very popular in Washington these days.

Setting Speed Limits

The Wisconsin division of the American Automobile association is carrying on a continuing campaign to have Wisconsin communities reevaluate the speed limits on their main through streets. The AAA knows from the complaints it has received that unrealistic speed limits tend to make periodic law violators out of many safe drivers.

Many of the speed limits on city and village streets were established when the traffic was only one-tenth or one-twentieth of the traffic load today. Furthermore, the limits were made to apply to autos with few of the safety features today's cars have. These antiquated speed limits are now being enforced with radar which in many communities means that a traffic officer can pick up violators in any desired number almost any time he wishes to check.

The AAA says the safe and reasonable speed limit on any stretch of street or highway can be determined readily by using the "85 percentile" method. This method involves a careful study of the existing speeds on any particular street. This is done by checking the drivers either with radar, speed watch, or onoscope and stop watch. Those making the check should be fully concealed and no arrests should be made on the road during the check. The speed of all vehicles checked should then be arranged on a chart in a manner to show the speed at which each car travelled.

Then the rate of speed below which 85 per cent of the cars travelled indicates the proper speed limit. To simplify matters it is suggested that the limit be set at the nearest 5-mile increment to the exact speed shown on the chart.

How is it that the drivers can be trusted to set a reasonable speed? The AAA says studies have shown that regardless of posted signs, most motorists drive at a speed they consider reasonable and safe according to constantly changing conditions. The AAA holds that whatever the driver-approved speed limit is, it should be posted and enforced.

It is pointed out that a speed limit must be reasonable if it is to be obeyed. It follows that a speed selected by 85 per cent of the drivers is reasonable and it is enforceable since there will be no more than 15 per cent in violation. It is pointed out that the 65-55 speed limit on Wisconsin highways conforms to the 85 percentile method, and the AAA holds that this method also should be applied to all routes within cities and villages.

Is Auto More Valuable Than Human Life?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

According to the news on TV recently, a prisoner escaped from Waupun. He was serving a one to five-year sentence for operating an automobile without the consent of the owner; and had been sentenced in 1954.

According to the news on TV the next night, a man was given a one to four-year sentence for beating his 4½-year-old daughter to death. Is an automobile more valuable than a human life? Can't I understand the English language? Or is the news reported incompletely and inaccurately?

These Days

New York, Other Cities Dangerous Because of Attitude on Youth Crime

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

So the story goes that a New York City Youth board operative took Ramon Serra and two companions for a ride. They ate hot dogs and drank soda pop and he induced them to play a game of softball the next day. Then they went to a candy store where, in the presence of the youth board worker, Serra murdered Michael Ramos, a gang organizer. The social worker commented:

"I heard a loud noise—a blast. It was so loud that I put my hands up to my ears."

Oh dear! What a sweet and lovely story!

New York city and many other cities are dangerous places for living because for sentimental reasons, the public authorities decline to treat crime as crime and criminals as criminals. Many social workers, do-gooders, even newspaper editors who should know better, believe that crime can be put down by coddling criminals. Actually, what they mean is that as the Negro and Puerto Rican population is enormous and in some areas of New York represents a majority, it is neither sound business nor sound politics to make too much noise about whatever may be offensive to them, even murder.

Coddling Unit
The youth board, in New York city, as similar organizations are elsewhere, is a coddling organization, designed to achieve by sweetness and light what all human experience proves can only be accomplished by punishment. Even applying the social worker's slogan "the greatest good to the greatest number," the gangs have become intolerable. They not only murder individuals who have a legal and moral right to remain alive, but they produce conditions which close down parks at night, make streets dangerous and cost the city money for additional policing. The youth gangs should be broken up by brute force.

The youth board in New York consists of 18 respectable and busy citizens, few of whom have any time to devote to this activity having affairs of their own, and 10 public officials each one of whom has a full time job. So the task, as in all such matters, goes down to the professional social workers who operate the enterprise according to the latest ideas of sociability based on the assumption that hot dogs and soda pop will assuage the murderous beasts who betray our civilization.

The social worker's concept of life is environmental and secular and assumes that gangs can be diverted into sweet groups, playing checkers and handball, by kind words spoken to amoral boys and girls. Serra, for instance, is 20 years old; Ramos, whom he killed in cold blood in the candy store, was 17 years old; Serra's girl friend, who fingered the murderer for the police, is 14 years old. Serra possessed an arsenal which cost considerable money because the weapons had to be obtained from illegal places.

Not Babies
These are not babies. Serra is a grown man. But what about his girl friend? What do the newspapers mean when they call a girl of 14 a girl friend? What does the law say about responsibility for the morals of those under age? When a child of 14 is the girl friend of a man of 20, what is the legal and moral definition of the term, girl friend?

What does the youth board do about defining such terms and such relationships? What do they do to protect such a child as this 14-year old girl from criminal associations? In this case, there was an-

Presbyterian Pastor Installed

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of May 10, 1879.

On Monday evening a large congregation assembled in the Presbyterian Chapel to witness the ceremonies and exercises incident to the installation of the Rev. J. B. Andrews as pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Hubbs of the Methodist church opened the service by reading a hymn appropriate to the occasion. The Rev. S. F. Gale of the Congregational church gave the opening prayer. The Rev.

Mr. Chapin of the Presbyterian Church of Neenah delivered a most powerful and effective discourse and made a lasting impression on all those present. The Rev. Mr. Pullen, Fort Howard, Moderator of the Winnebago Presbytery, conducted the exercises and propounded the usual questions to the pastor and the church.

The Rev. M. Rossiter, Oshkosh, delivered the charge to the pastor and his clear, lucid, forceful language and manly sentiments delighted all present. The Rev. Mr. Chapin then delivered the charge to the people. It was an admirable and eloquent exposition of the duties and relations of the congregation to its pastor.

Lot of Common Sense At Education Meeting

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The recent Governor's Conference on Education Beyond the High School at Madison was an unexpectedly successful one, and one of the reasons was a brilliant summary of the issues by Cather in e Cleary, one of the state's distinguished citizens and business women.

There was an abundance of common-sense expressed at this conference of some 500 persons—which could so easily have degenerated into the dreary recital of bureaucratic prejudices and ambitions—but few of the formal addresses packed so much reality and good judgment as that of the young woman from Milwaukee who spoke on attaining equality of educational opportunity.

As in other public problem fields, the whole field of higher education and public policy abounds in cliches. Miss Cleary cut through most of them with the kind of analysis that is refreshing to the observer on the sidelines who is weary of the commonplaces.

In the typical lecture, for example, there is the thesis that many of the people who are not in college, but who are intellectually qualified for higher education, are absent for financial reasons. It is one of the symptoms of a popular disease of the times other girl to whom Serra handed the murder weapon which she threw into an ash can where the police found it. What kind of a girl is this? Was she an accomplice? Was she a member of Serra's gang or of a girl's auxiliary gang?

The gang problem in the big cities is becoming unmanageable because it is not being treated exclusively as crime which it is. The gangs grow in number and size. They involve young people who engage in truancy, in school riots, in narcotics, in gang wars, in murders. Large cities have always had gangs, but nothing quite as vicious as the gangs of juveniles and youths who pollute our cities and who, usually, are products of improper homes. This is strictly, a police problem everywhere and it can be established that the soft intervention of the social workers has only aggravated the situation.

(Copyright, 1958)

—that the public treasury can solve everything.

OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL

Miss Cleary belongs to the school that believes an enlightened society owes everybody an opportunity to attain that level of education of which he is capable. But there are people who don't want to go to college, for one reason and another. It is also obvious that society cannot finance college training for everybody. She didn't say so, but it could be deduced from her address that there are human occupations that are honorable and dignified and satisfying for which a college degree is irrelevant and that it is the worst intellectual snobbery to suggest that only the mentally inferior should man the shops and the farms.

It is fashionable today to assume that the otherwise qualified young boy or girl who wants college and cannot pay for it directly should get some kind of a grant from his neighbors—via the public treasury—to pay the costs.

Miss Cleary, as a thoughtful and observant person who has had some direct experience in educational administration as a former regent of the state colleges, also has some refreshing ideas on that point.

TAX IMPLICATIONS

It is perfectly evident to her, and to anyone who has reflected upon the tax implications of the college enrollment trends, that publicly-subsidized college training for all who want it, or even all who deserve it, is impracticable. While she endorses the idea of a broader public scholarship program, with other understanding persons, she also believes that the student and his parents have some obligation. There is the old fashioned idea of work in part time. There is the idea of credit.

On a topic that has invited so much maudlin comment, regard this:

"In an age when people borrow as a matter of course to buy automobiles, television sets, and even trips to Europe, it would not seem unreasonable to suggest that a college education is worth borrowing for."

MEETS FUNDAMENTALS

Miss Cleary meets other fundamentals of the higher education crisis head-on. Equality of opportunity does not mean that every young persons has the unqualified right to a seat in a costly college or university at the expense of the body politic. It means that all are entitled to compete. Abilities are not equal. As the price to the taxpayer amounts to ever higher and more painful levels, admissions and performance requirements will be increased necessarily.

These are the kind of ideas that need saying, but are rarely said. It is characteristic that a distinguished daughter of Michael Cleary, an influential Wisconsin leader of another generation, should have the imagination and the courage to say them.

To Your Good Health

Toenail Problem May Require Services of Skin Specialist

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a problem with my toenails. They get sore and the whole nail comes off. Another one grows, but not to the toe as it should, and eventually it gets pus under it and comes off again. — Mrs. R.C."

When nails start acting up, you can suspect a variety of disorders, but not a vast number. Yet enough so you can't make a quick guess and hope to be right.

Most severe illnesses involving high fever will result in irregularity of growth, and if you know how to calculate the rate of growth of a nail, then you often can tell, quite accurately, how long ago a patient has had such an illness. (That's one of the tricks of the profession — so don't say I told you.)

Then, again, an abscess may form underneath a nail. This is quite painful but it is readily relieved by releasing the pressure and treating the abscessed spot. You can also lose a nail by hitting it with a hammer but everybody knows that.

Local Problem
So we'll get on to Mrs. R.C.'s coming - and - going toenails. Since her fingernails are all right, it's reasonable to assume that her trouble is a local problem with the toes, not something affecting the whole system.

Likewise, since the new nails regularly start to grow in again, it seems that the "root" or matrix of the nail is healthy, but the trouble is located farther out along the toe — in the nail bed itself.

The soreness and pus indicate that some sort of infection has taken up squatter's rights in the nail bed, and every time a new nail grows out over this area, there is enough infection remaining to cause matter to form. This forces the nail loose, and presently it comes off.

Fungus Infection
What could be causing this? Fungus infections (the feet being subject to such) are one likely cause. Eczema or psoriasis are others, or some of a number of skin diseases which are a bit too technical to go into here, although specialists will identify them quickly enough.

Thus, trouble with the nails often falls into the field of the skin specialist. My suggestion is to go to a dermatologist, a skin specialist.

Hair Plucking
"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it all right to remove hair around the lip by plucking? Will it grow back? Also I have a mole with two hairs. Should I pluck them? — I.L."

Plucking such hairs on the lip, while painful, causes no special harm. If you get the root, the hair won't grow back. But if you just break the shaft of the hair, it will grow out again. Electrolysis is a surer method. As to the mole — leave those hairs alone. Tampering with them is inviting trouble. (Copyright, 1958)

KHS Ghosts to Battle Trucker Nine Tuesday

Saturday's Contest Against Rockets Postponed by Rain

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school baseball game with Neenah was called off because of wet grounds Saturday. The Ghosts will attempt to resume Mid-East competition at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when they travel to Clintonville.

The Truckers have only four letter winners returning but one is the front line chucker, Russ Huebner. Clintonville jumped off to a fast start scoring several conference wins but with the opening of league play has chalked up one win and one loss.

The Truckers edged New London 3 to 9 on a 1-hitter by Huebner and then dropped a 7 to 6 decision to Neenah as the Rockets scored the winning run in the last of the seventh. Other returning lettermen for Clintonville are Ron Buchberger, catcher; Charlie Moder, right field; and Terry Lichtenberg, shortstop.

Kaukauna Record
Kaukauna opened the year with a 4 to 2 win over Kimberly but then bowed to Two Rivers 9 to 3. The Ghosts outthrew the Raiders in the second game but 11 walks paved the way for the winners. Kaukauna is the only Mid-East team that failed to schedule any pre-season non-conference tilts.

Coach Harry Wilson indicated Saturday he would start Jerome "Bugs" De Bruin on the mound for the first time this year. De Bruin earned a letter last year as a hurler but weakened late in the season and finished out in the outfield. Ed Wettstein has been nominated to handle the catching duties.

Other starters for Kaukauna will be Lee Weyenberg at first base, Duane Pahl at shortstop, Earl Vanervenoven at third base, Ron Busse in left field, Ed Schaefer in center field and Jim Steger in right field. Wilson is not sure who will start at second base with Ron Vandenberg and Bruce Vanervenoven likely to share the assignment in the course of the game.

Chapel Drive May Set Pattern At Institutions

Private Funds Being Raised at Madison Hospital

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — An experimental campaign to persuade the church-minded people of Wisconsin to contribute private funds for a chapel at Mendota state hospital here may be a prelude for later efforts on behalf of numerous other state institutions.

The state building commission has given its cordial approval to a plan to solicit private contributions, up to $150,000 to $200,000, for the financing of a chapel at the principal state mental hospital for southern Wisconsin.

The sponsors of the project, led by the chaplains at the institution, emphasize that the chapel will be designed as an all-faith facility. Protestant and Catholic clergymen at the hospital have combined their energies to promote the enterprise.

Few Have Chapels
According to state welfare department authorities, all of the state institutions should have such chapels, but only two or three of them now have adequate facilities.

Depending on the success of the Mendota drive, similar solicitations may be made on behalf of the correctional schools, reformatories, prisons, colonies and other state hospitals in other years.

(Some state officials have doubted that state funds, under the terms of the state constitution, could legally be used to provide such facilities for religious services, although the welfare administration has listed such structures as among its long-range building goals as submitted to the legislature and the building commission from time to time.)

Two Lumber Barons, 'Maiden Lady' Add to Lawrence's Endowed Chairs

By Marguerite Schumann

Two Oshkosh lumber barons and a "maiden lady" (to use the nomenclature favored in her day) are an unlikely trio of godparents to the science department at Lawrence college.

Philetus Sawyer, who divided his life between pine logs and politics, established a chair in chemistry in 1896; in 1902 Robert McMillen followed suit for the physics department; and five years after that, quiet-living Florence Child from Edgerton gave to the teaching of mathematics both her family name and a part of her family fortune.

This is the fifth in a series of seven stories on endowed chairs at Lawrence college.

Philetus Sawyer, who divided his life between pine logs and politics, established a chair in chemistry in 1896; in 1902 Robert McMillen followed suit for the physics department; and five years after that, quiet-living Florence Child from Edgerton gave to the teaching of mathematics both her family name and a part of her family fortune.

The member of the trio who lived most in the public eye was Philetus Sawyer, descended on his father's side from John Sawyer of Lincolnshire, England, who came to America in 1636, and on his mother's side from a string of Britons who went clear back to King Alfred the Great who beat the Vikings in the Ninth century.

Sawyer led the usual mid-western pioneer's boyhood in rural Vermont and New York, being hired out for farm work by his father, at $6 a month. Impatient for liberty, Philetus borrowed $100 from his older brother, "paid off" his father for his freedom, and succeeded in paying the brother back from wages earned long before he was 21.

By 1847, he had saved $2,000 and headed for the midwest to seek his fortune. With his wife and two sons. They got to Rosendale by wagon, only to find that the cabin Philetus had purchased for them (complete with a glass window), had been looted by an earlier traveller.

Buys Sawmill

After two years of farming, Philetus bought a sawmill in Oshkosh, and from then on, with his fortune doubling every five years, he was looked on not only as Oshkosh's leading citizen but one of the most influential and controversial figures in the state.

Ten years after he moved to Wisconsin, Sawyer was elected to the state legislature, as a Free Soil Democrat. When the free soil cause was betrayed by that party, Sawyer and the rest went over to the opposition, and the bulk of his public offices were achieved under the Republican banner.

He was, in steady succession, mayor of Oshkosh for two years, U. S. congressman for 12, and finally the senator from Wisconsin for another 12, serving seven of those years past the 70 mark. In the panic of 1873, he assured the financial stability of the Bank of Oshkosh which he and others had founded; and in the first of the city's great fires he was fire warden for the fifth ward, rejoicing that his territory was spared.

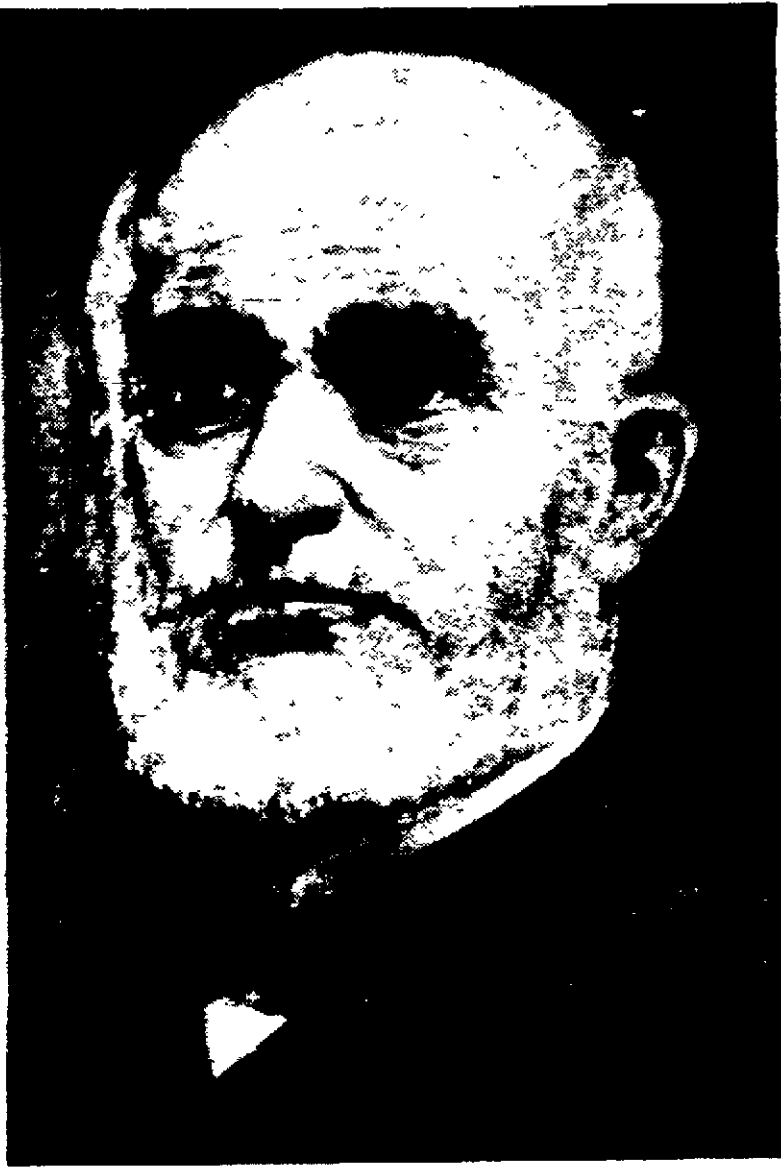

Any man in politics makes violent and verbal enemies, and Philetus Sawyer, who had a marked talent for being in the middle of the action, was surely no exception.

His detractors ridiculed him throughout his life for his inelegant and inaccurate command of his mother tongue. Even the newspapers observed that he signed himself p. Sawyer because he could not spell Philetus.

Biographer Defends

One of his biographers commented: "They were wrong. He could write his name, his full name, and he did. He even wrote whole letters in his own hand. If his spelling was sometimes peculiar, so was George Washington's and Andrew Jackson's. When he had to make his signature he would screw up his face, bite down on his tongue, and painfully produce his Philetus Sawyer. His strong, stubby fingers could skillfully handle an ax or a saw, but not a pen. He was no writer."

"He was no speaker, either. Once when he was called upon ... he got up and said, 'I don't think I'll make a speech to-night.' Then he sat down, amid applause. It was one of the best delivered speeches he ever made."

Philetus Sawyer, an Oshkosh lumberman who divided his life between business and politics, established a chair in chemistry in 1896 for Lawrence college. In his time, he was one of the most influential and controversial figures in the state.

Because he was a rich man, he was exceptionally vulnerable to charges of vote-buying. Again his biographer commented: "Democrats told and re-told the story that Sawyer while on an electioneering trip made out a check for 'some $400 to be used in buying votes, etc.' and then gave it to the wrong man: 'Philetus, thou servant of Baal, go hide thyself,' admonished the Appleton Crescent."

The press gave ludicrously mis-spelled accounts of his speeches and credited him with hopeless errors of geographical fact; yet Philetus Sawyer, the curbstome statesman, won elections.

Sawyer was once delegated to carry a petition to President Lincoln seeking the release of a boy from the Union army because his father had fallen off a load of lumber on Oshkosh's Main street bridge and was killed; the boy was his mother's sole support. Sawyer managed to see Lincoln at the White House.

"Lincoln told him they should be putting men into the army rather than taking them out. Sawyer urged that the boy had enlisted at 15 by misrepresenting his age, and that Winnebago county had exceeded its quota of volunteers. Finally the president agreed to approve the discharge if all the Wisconsin members of congress would recommend it. As the story has it, the youth was at home with his widowed mother before Sawyer himself got back."

Votes for Impeachment

Philetus Sawyer voted for Lincoln at his second nominating convention, in congress he voted for the impeachment of President Johnson—for many of the dramatic events of the Civil war and the reconstruction he was there adding his "Yea" or "Nay."

His favorite project was the St. Lawrence seaway, for it was the Oshkosh dream that with the proper digging of canals, a steamer could go from the North Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico via the inland route and stop lengthily at Oshkosh, of course, to pick up supplies. A river and harbor bill which brought $7 million worth of improvements to this area was largely his work.

For a man who had such a brief brush with education himself, it seemed surprising that Philetus Sawyer took the troubles of Lawrence college so freely to his heart. He was on the board of trustees from 1866 to 1900, and for a short time when his political life allowed him to live in Oshkosh, he was president of the board too.

Sawyer and Edward G. Paine (endower of the president's chair, as reported earlier in this series) repeatedly helped Lawrence out of financial straits during the administration of second President Russell Z. Mason.

By the time President Samuel Plantz and his energetic ladies team of endowment raisers (Mrs. Plantz and Mrs. John Scott Davis), arrived on the campus, he had already placed a telescope in the new observatory, which was a very exceptional instrument for its day.

Agrees to Chair

Although Sawyer was no Methodist, the ladies' calling team did not overlook the Oshkosh man's home, and Mrs. Plantz and Mrs. Davis came home jubilant one evening in 1896 over the fact that Sawyer had agreed to give a chair in chemistry. He even advised the ladies on future operations and financed a trip to the east, when they went calling on educational philanthropists around Boston.

"One day before the travelling team set out, he was in the president's house on the Lawrence campus, helping the women line up hostesses and prospects and discussing with them their travelling expenses. One of the ladies, listing the items in their budget, assured President Plantz commented in the press he had just received Sawyer they would be very economical in their lunches."

"Don't stint your vittles," the well-travelled and well-fed (250-pound) trustee replied, his short legs dangling from the piano bench where he was sitting.

Students and faculty alike called him "Uncle Philetus" on his frequent visits to the campus, and one young lady in the student body particularly had reason to think of him with filial affection. She had taken her courage and her little sister in hand one bitter winter day, borrowed enough carfare to get to Oshkosh, and walked the streets supperless until Sawyer arrived home.

Then the two children called on him, told him of their desire to go to college, and of the plight of their widowed mother. Upshot of the meeting was that Sawyer provided for the musical education of the elder one at Lawrence, and promised the younger she should study acting when she was old enough.

Frequently the girl saw her benefactor on the campus, and once President Plantz brought him into her piano practise room at Ormsby hall, where Sawyer beamed, "Play something." She played Annie Laurie, and Sawyer courteously said, "That is my favorite."

Flags at Half Mast

When Philetus Sawyer died in March, 1900, the flags in the First National bank of Oshkosh flew at half mast; to Lawrence, and he contributed the second-largest sum to Ormsby hall, supplementing the primary gift of D. G. Ormsby of Milwaukee.

Where the life of Philetus Sawyer was a matter of national public record, and that of Robert McMillen of considerable local eminence, the third of the Lawrence science benefactors — Miss Florence Child — was so private that almost no data can be found on her, beyond her obituary in 1929.

Florence Eluthra Child was born at Eagle, Wis., in 1849, the child of pioneers. Ultimately the family moved to Edgerton, where her father was in the tobacco and wool business, and was one of the town's prominent early merchants.

She attended the Edgerton public schools, and although she had not received advanced education herself, she was interested in both Beloit and Lawrence colleges. Miss Child was active in Methodist church work, was a lay delegate to one of Mrs. Plantz's converts general conferences, labored in the YMCA, and was the principal donor of the Algoma lege after endowing the chair Avenue Methodist church in his mathematics.

When Mrs. Plantz was converting from a gutter opera-house trustee group in 1897, was president of the Fox River Pa-per company, and a director of for three weeks, to be waited in the First National bank of Oshkosh. Two of his children went maid in a big Victorian resi-

Businesslike
System Needed,
Volunteers Told

Mrs. Philip Pillsbury
Cites Training Need
For Red Cross Workers

Businesslike personnel procedures should be followed in dealing with volunteer workers. Mrs. Philip Pillsbury, veteran Red Cross worker from Minneapolis, told 400 women gathered in Appleton for the second annual Wisconsin Red Cross volunteer conference Saturday.

The more an organization expects of its personnel, the more it receives from them, she asserted.

Adequate training for workers, fund raisers and board members will assure top quality performance. Mrs. Pillsbury said, adding that recognition of outstanding service is needed to assure continued success of Red Cross work.

"Too often volunteers work hard but receive little recognition," she declared.

Overall Program
Workers must understand the overall Red Cross program, as well as programs of related social welfare organizations. Mrs. Pillsbury emphasized.

Included with program understanding is knowledge of community needs and capabilities and potential of volunteer staff members.

She called for constant evaluation and re-evaluation of the Red Cross program.

Volunteers can be the backbone of the organization by interpreting the Red Cross to the community and the community to the Red Cross. Mrs. Pillsbury said.

Part of Tradition
"Red Cross volunteers are the best of their type in the United States. Their work touches all phases of the program and augments efforts of professionals."

American tradition because it is work of people doing a job that doesn't have to be done, Mrs. Pillsbury said.

"Wars, bombs and unknown terrors mean little in the face of social service," she said.

Conference workshop reports dealt largely with recruiting, training and public relations problems.

Presiding Officer
Lloyd Doerfler, chairman of the Outagamie county Red Cross chapter, was presiding officer.

Mrs. Donald Morrissey, coordinator of group session reports.

Mrs. Sherwood Lorenz, Clintonville, led the Gray Lady workshop. Edward Frederick worked on the Outagamie county Golden Age home at New London.

Mrs. Paul W. Lueders and Mrs. Alma Gifford, both of Oshkosh, led discussions on canteen service. Mrs. J. R. Eagen, Oshkosh, was in charge of the staff aid workshop.

Mrs. Carl M. Anderson, Menasha, led the flag ceremony.

Hint at Upturn
For Industry

Some Executives
Look for Gains in Last Half of '58

BY SAM DAWSON

New York — A few first signs that the industrial slump may be flattening out are sighted today amid the welter of unpleasant statistics on the recent past.

They are too scattered, to foretell a turning in the trend but businessmen are watching them closely. And more company executives are coming far behind the volume a H. Greenwalt, president of Du forth with predictions that after-year ago, the National Machine Tool Builders association notes as a sign that the chemical industry may be ready for a resumption of the better machine tool sales have led the bound.

will be apparent in the final way to recovery in the capital goods industry. The association president, A. V. Bodine, holds that the pick-up in orders would swell if the government would allow manufacturers to write off depreciation on tools in five years instead of in 15 to 25.

A gain in new orders of late is also reported by Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric, who thinks this may herald an upturn in durable goods demand.

A similar rise in sales in recent months is noted by Crawford H. Greenwalt, president of Du forth with predictions that after-year ago, the National Machine Tool Builders association notes as a sign that the chemical industry may be ready for a resumption of the better machine tool sales have led the bound.

Idea of Area
Vocational School Falters

No Localities Take Advantage of
New Legislation

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The idea of organizing vocational school opportunity on an area basis, approved enthusiastically by the legislature a year ago, is apparently floundering.

Legislation authorizing area vocational school districts, to supplement the city schools historically financed and managed for single localities, was one of the major objectives of the Thomson administration in the last legislative session.

But since that time no area school district has been formed, although the state department of vocational and adult education has been anxious to help such rural towns and small cities that might have been interested in such a co-operative venture.

Lack of Subsidy
Director C. L. Greiber of the state office recently suggested the lack of state subsidies for such schools as one of the reasons for the indifferent reception of the new enabling law.

Greiber spoke to a legislative joint interim committee on education, and his remarks drew some taunts from Democratic minority members about the financial policies of the Republican state regime as shown by the failure to provide money to back up the new vocational school act.

Greiber disclaimed any partisan intention, and Chairman Walter Calvert of LaFayette county cut the political discussion short. Calvert is a Republican and chairman of the standing committee on education of the state assembly.

(The consensus at the recent state-wide conference here on Education Beyond the High School was that the state in the future owes it to the vocational schools and their growing student bodies to subsidize them at a rate comparable to the state's contributions to other post-high school educational programs including the state university and colleges.)

Industrious Beavers Guided
By Desire for Food, Building

BY RAMON COFFMAN

There are times when I think I am "as busy as a beaver." I start working at 9 o'clock in the morning, and stay at my desk until after midnight, with only a few minutes out for meals.

That, however, is the exception. Taking my life in general, I think that I give less time to my work than beavers give to theirs.

Beavers have amazing industry. They bite into wood, and keep on biting. They topple trees, small and large. They build interesting homes. They make remarkable dams and are the leading engineers in the animal world.

Q. Why do beavers cut down, or bite down, trees?

A. They need the wood for building. Aside from that, their purpose is to obtain food. They like the twigs and tender bark of trees.

Usually the tender bark is on the high branches. They lack skill in climbing, but they are able to bring the branches down to their level. Once a tree has fallen to the ground, they can eat as much as they like on the branches.

Q. Do beavers eat anything besides bark and twigs?

A. Bark and twigs are their main food, but they have other items in their diet. They eat berries, and are fond of the roots of water lilies.

Q. How large are beavers?

An adult beaver, on the average, measures two and a half feet from the tip of the nose to the base of the tail. The tail usually adds from 10 to 14 inches to the length.

The average weight is about 40 pounds, but many a beaver tips the scales at 50 pounds. A few big fellows reach a weight of from 60 to 70 pounds.

Story with a happy ending told by Mark J. Hirsch, Treasurer, Thorp Finance Corporation
a business born of confidence in people

How an almost-forgotten range purchase helped get the car that saved his job!

WHAT a tough spot for a salesman! Transferred to a newly opened territory... his big chance to really make good... just as his old car finally collapsed. In a new town, too—he and his wife strangers, without local credit. So where to turn in this moment when success or failure hinged on transportation?

The answer is similar to many found in Thorp Finance files. For this couple, in their former home town, had once financed a new range through Thorp. The financing service, they recalled, had been prompt, courteous and economical. And it had established their Thorp credit wherever in Wisconsin and Minnesota they might be.

Now they selected a car, asking the dealer to finance it through Thorp. He had only to make a credit check with the nearest Thorp office for a fast "Okay to deliver." The salesman was off on the road without losing a single day. In addition, the Thorp Credit Plan of financing offered him protection to guarantee car payments in event of sickness or disability and to pay off the entire balance in the event of death.

Whatever your financing need—car, furniture, appliances—make the simple arrangements through your dealer. Get financing from Thorp that's complete and protected, and which securely establishes your credit throughout the state.

Brussels Fair Asks Patience, Cash, Courage and Strong Feet

BY EDDY GILMORE

Brussels—Visitors to the 1958 world's fair should arrive equipped with plenty of cash, courage, patience and strong feet.

They'll need the money for Brussels' high prices, courage for rides with the city's speed-demon taxi drivers, patience for waiting in long lines at the fair for food and strong feet to tramp the exhibition's 550 acres.

In November last year an American reserved a double room with bath for himself and wife at a good but not swanky you like. They carry two per hotel. He was asked to pay $40, sons and the charge is $1.20 for francs ($10.80) in advance.

On April 4 he was notified that with an increase in prices authorized by the government, the room would now cost $63 francs ($19.26).

The price includes a service charge of 15 per cent, taxes and a continental breakfast of tea or coffee and rolls.

But, you'd better tip just the same.

Breakfasters wanting fruit at bars, restaurants and hotel juice, eggs, bacon or ham pay extra.

Taxi drivers of Paris long have been regarded by many foreigners as eccentrics. One of their eccentricities is break-nack speed.

Wild Taxi Rides
Brussels taximen seem to come from the same mould. The big difference is they have new automobiles, mostly American and German, and capable of greater speed.

Just before the world's fair opened on April 17, the starting fare was increased from 7 to 10 francs (20 cents).

There is a local ordinance compelling a taxi user to tip a minimum of 15 per cent.

But, if you stick to the minimum you'll get more than a dirty glare. Tip 20 per cent and the cabbies are polite; 25 and they smile; 30 and they bow; 40 and they bow and call you monsieur.

Despite dozens of restaurants, there still are not enough. The restaurant at the American pavilion has had a lineup every day since the fair's opening.

The prices range from 50 cents for a prime beef hamburger, $1.60 for Dixie style barbecued half spring chicken to 20 cent coffee.

"In accordance with local custom," reads a note on the menu "there is a service charge of 15 per cent which replaces the tip."

Nonstop Trains
At the fair grounds there are four ways of visiting the exhibits—by motorized trains that rumble through the grounds, by motorized rickshaws, by 2-man gondolas that glide along cables suspended over the heads of the crowd. And by foot.

The motorized trains do not stop. From them the visitor sees only the exterior of the pavilions.

The gondolas also trundle along fixed routes with no halts. The rickshaws halt as often as

Rogers Mixes Metaphors on Court Function

Critics Say Umpires' Job Not to Make Rule, Order Pitcher Changes

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers has his baseball metaphors mixed up. He says the bills being considered in congress to curb the excesses of the Supreme Court are the result of the same sort of outcry heard from spectators at a baseball game who shout, "kill the umpire!"

But what the critics of the Supreme Court really want is for the "umpire" to stick to his job of watching the ball and abiding by the rules. They don't think it's the umpire's duty to make new rules or to tell the manager of the club, for instance, just when he can put in a different pitcher. They don't like to see an umpire deciding that, when a ball drops outside the foul line, it is a foul for one team but, when the other team hits the ball into exactly the same spot, it isn't a foul at all. In other words, the fans don't want to see the umpire moving the foul line around to suit himself.

That's essentially what the dispute is about as the Supreme Court ignores the rules of the game repeatedly and makes up its own rules that are then proclaimed as binding on everybody—even to the point of telling congress what questions may be asked in formal hearings through which its committees seek to get information to guide them in writing new laws. Also, in a baseball game, everybody knows who the umpire is. He appears in full uniform and he has a rule book to go by. In the Supreme Court's work, it isn't always possible to know who the umpire happens to be.

Clerks Not Judges
Thus every justice has two law clerks, and the chief justice has four. These assistants don't have to be confirmed by the senate. They are not supposed to be judges. Yet they perform some of the work of the supreme court justices, especially in connection with what are known as "writs of certiorari." These are petitions to the supreme court to grant an appeal from the lower courts. If the writ is denied, there's no appeal. It means a final judicial decision so far as the citizen is concerned. The justice himself signs the denial of the writ. (NM) that something has been inserted in U. S. bombs to increase the radioactive fallout. Anderson, a member of the senate-house atomic energy committee, said in a television interview April 27 that the military had taken bombs from the stockpile to make the insertion. In a letter to Chairman Carl Durham (D-NC) of the atomic committee, Strauss replied: "The facts are that atomic bombs are only taken from stockpile for purposes of routine inspection or for modification or improvement. 'No material is 'inserted' in bombs for the purpose of increasing the amount of fission product or to add to the total fallout."

Pugnacious PTA Parent Fears Words Debase, Bewitch Son

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: P.T.A. groups work very hard to get horror books off the market and to keep our newspapers from printing smut. How does it happen that your column appears all over. Frankly, I don't know how you get away with it.

Our nine-year-old son reads the paper every day. He never misses your column. It makes me sick when I see this innocent young child, reading about trashy incidents which are not considered acceptable in our society. In my opinion, such things should not be mentioned publicly.

350 Attend CDA Party At St. Joseph

More than 350 attended the annual corporate communion Mother - Daughter breakfast held by the Court Ave Maria 1011. Catholic Daughters of America, Sunday morning at St. Joseph school hall.

Winners of a recent poetry contest staged by the CDA in local grade schools appeared on the program, including Judith Haase, Judith Bacich, Janine DePrez, Mary Engel and Jean Schindhelm.

Vocal selections were presented by the Harmonettes, a group of Appletton High school students, and Mrs. John LeFevre welcomed the daughters assembled on behalf of the mothers participating. Her daughter, Mary, gave the response tribute.

Breakfast arrangements were in charge of the Mmes. Walter Grossman, Harvey Wolfgram, Vincent LeCapitaine and Carlton Luedke.

consider your column a damaging influence on young people and I'm taking this opportunity to tell you so. — Sincerely, Mrs. S.W.

DEAR MRS. S.W.: Thank you for your letter. I agree that P.T.A. groups perform a valuable service. I support them wholeheartedly. And they support me.

I've addressed many P.T.A. audiences as well as school assemblies. Apparently they don't consider my column damaging to young people.

This column is fit for anyone who can read. If the material is beyond a child's comprehension it will make no impression. If he does understand, he'll get an honest picture of life. Not only will he become alerted to life's fish-hooks and booby-traps, but he'll learn about the high price of low morals and perhaps profit by the mistakes of others.

You can't insulate your son against life, Mother. A child kept under cellophane and fed fairy tales is in for a shattering blow when reality hits him. This world is neither a garden of roses nor is it a garbage dump.

If a child is reared in an atmosphere where love and morality are the supporting pillars, this column will not ruin his life — I promise you.

— Sincerely, Ann Landers

Last night my father blew his top over this. My mother stuck up for me and said Dad was evil-minded and that he should put more trust in me. Dad insists we are both out of our minds. He says this is one for Ann Landers, so we've agreed to let you settle it. Will you? — BETSY BOO

Mother may be on your side but I'm with Dad. A bedroom is not the proper setting in which to do homework with a boy friend. And you shouldn't be together every night under any circumstances.

It's your parents' responsibility to control the "bratty" sisters and teach them simple manners. You should not find it necessary to lock yourself in a room for privacy. When this problem is solved, the other will no longer exist.

First Son of Bing Crosby Weds Showgirl

Las Vegas, Nev. —P— Bing Crosby's son Dennis, 23, married showgirl-divorcee Pat Sheehan, 26, in a Protestant ceremony between her show performances Sunday night.

Miss Sheehan was Miss San Francisco of 1950. She has a 6-year-old son by her previous marriage.

She and the crooner's son were having dinner at a Mexican restaurant next door to the chapel when they decided to marry immediately, Miss Sheehan said later.

Miss Sheehan said she and young Crosby had no honeymoon plans and that she might continue appearing at the night club another two months.

First Son to Wed
Dennis is the first of Bing's four sons to marry. All were reared Roman Catholics.

Dennis and Miss Sheehan have been keeping company for several months. Last Feb. 3 spokesmen at their homes said they planned to be married in the same Las Vegas Catholic church where widower Bing, 53, married actress Kathryn Grant, 23, last Oct. 24.

Two days later the Rev. John J. Ryan, pastor of the church, St. Anne's, issued this statement:

"I wish to make it clear that no such marriage can be approved by the Catholic church unless, after thorough investigation, it is found that the former marriage of Miss Sheehan was not a valid Christian marriage contract."

Beauty Ready Smile Can Reflect Outlook

By Marian Matthews

Perhaps there's too much emphasis on the external appearance of the mouth—the color of the lipstick you wear and the outline of your lips. There should be some attention to the expression behind all of it.

A happy outlook is usually reflected in the ready smile which curves the mouth lines. It is the solemn, moody girl who might find herself in difficulty when applying lipstick and with some artistic magic she may work out a happier lip line than lies underneath.

Occasionally a droopy lip outline is a quirk of nature as are the eyebrows that sweep down in unhappy St. Bernard fashion but these don't always say the owner is of the same mind. It is the girl who twists her features into unattractive distorted lines who needs reminding.

Study yourself in a mirror and try to catch the expressions you wear during the day. Couldn't you smile more often, couldn't you look more pleasant, couldn't you serve your beauty to better advantage by giving up the grimacing and scowling?

Try some facial exercises if you feel they will help you: Begin with the lips. Stretch them into a wide smile and then quickly purse them together in an exaggerated pout. Now relax and do exercise again about six to eight times, relaxing each time.

Another good exercise to re-Miss Jeanne Tank and Miss Marilyn Kosky spent the past is to try blowing up an imaginary balloon—if there are kid-Tank's parents, Mr. and Mrs. dies around, do them and your-Fred Tank, 705 S. ## Our Children Noise Part of Childhood, Passes With Maturity

BY ANGELO PATRI

Children are noisy. Babies cry; toddlers cry and whine; older children shout, bang doors, break things with a crash and practice their instruments making unholy noises. A law.

The adolescents make their presence felt in loud arguments, noisy parties and heedless movements.

This is because they are what they are, growing things. The people who complain and insist that they play quietly have forgotten about all this. They are long past youth and they feel longings for peace. Children must live and noise is part of their struggles to do so.

Of course they must be taught to consider other people's feelings. When somebody is ill in the house, when grandpa or mother is taking a nap, their noise must be subdued, but that bang is teaching them to restrain themselves in consideration for others and it is not to become a law.

Newlyweds Travel in West Coast

Currently honeymooning on the west coast are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nuxoll who were married in a double ring ceremony at 11 o'clock Saturday morning in Sacred Heart Catholic church. The Rev. Emil Schmidt officiated.

The bride who was Ernestine Griesbach prior to her marriage, is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Griesbach, Appletton, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Uhlenkott, Greencreek, Idaho. Donald Griesbach escorted his sister to the altar.

Miss Stella Griesbach was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Linda Ann Kuba, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Francis Gerl, Seymour, served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brothers, Donald and Gerald Griesbach.

A dinner for the bridal party was held at 12:30 at Hotel Appletton and later a supper for 125 guests was served there. A reception and dance for the newlyweds was also staged there.

The bride was graduated from the American School, Chicago, and has been employed at St. Elizabeth hospital. Mr. Nuxoll is a graduate of Greencreek High school, has spent time in the army, and is employed at the International Wire Works, Menasha.

Mr. and Mrs. Nuxoll will reside in Appletton.

Hostess Not Rude in This Refusal

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I planned an elaborate cocktail and dinner party at the country club for 50 guests. Among those invited was a Mrs. A. who is a casual acquaintance. She had entertained us once several months ago and I wished to repay her hospitality. Two days before the party she called me on the telephone and said, "I have a favor to ask of you. My brother is in town for a few days and I want to know if it will be all right if he came along with us to the party." I refused as politely as I could saying that table arrangements had been made and it would be difficult to change them at the last minute. I wonder now if I was rude to refuse. Does any friend—whether casual or close—have the privilege of asking such a favor?

Answer: You were quite within your rights to explain that you did not have place for an extra guest. No one should request bringing an extra guest to a sit-down luncheon or dinner.

Naming Son
Dear Mrs. Post: We are expecting our second baby soon and if it is a boy we would like to name him for my husband. Our first son was not named for him. I have been told that the second son in a family cannot be called Jr. and that only the eldest son can correctly carry the father's name. Will you please tell me if this is true?

Answer: You have been misinformed—any son can be named for his father.

Choose Another Day
Dear Mrs. Post: I have been going out with a boy for the past six months. I have been invited to dinner at his house, several times and his mother, has always been very nice to me. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to send her a few flowers on Mother's day?

Answer: As you are not yet her daughter-in-law I think it would be wiser, if you wish to send her some flowers, to choose some other day.

Applause Thunders for MacDowell Singers

Appreciative Audience Welcomes Talent, Drama of William Warfield

BY MARY JENSEN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
A sea of happy faces and waves of hands thundering in applause greeted the MacDowell male chorus and magnificent baritone William Warfield at every interval of the concert Saturday evening in the Appleton High school auditorium. It was the 24th concert of its kind presented by the male chorus.
The 39-voice chorus opened the program with three capably handled selections, followed by four numbers by the internationally famous baritone, who was assisting artist for the evening. Warfield's delivery of "Laudate Dominum in Santus Ejus" (Psalm 150) by Monteverdi was an outstanding example of hearty dignity and song bursting with feeling and joy.
His uplifting treatment of Handel's "Why Do the Nations," from "The Messiah" indicated to a grateful audience the magnitude of such a talent shared willingly with listeners.
Music and Drama
The performance given by Warfield was not only musical, but dramatic and magical. His voice, so lovely that it cast a spell, made his listeners humble and thankful that one can be bequeathed with a truly divine gift and give it to his audience unselfishly, drawing them into his sphere of beauty. It was almost a relief to see him, at the end of a song mop his damp face, proving that he, too, is human.
The certain quality and strength heard when men's voices join in a single effort, blending in harmony, was evidenced when the chorus gave to the audience in reverence, James' "Almighty God of Our Fathers." Ethereal humming led into "Come Into My Heart, Lord Jesus" by Heyden and the clear tenor voice of Clarence DeBruin in a brief solo added to the strength of the song.
A rejoicing melody, Handel's "Hallelujah, Amen" was the last selection in the third part of the program, well-conducted and ending with a forceful, "Amen." The sensitive song, simple and straightforward, was one of the best heard.
Next, seemingly pensive, Warfield appeared on the stage and broke into the "gentle" German of "Susses Begrabnis" by Loewe, and although many may not have known the meaning of the graceful words, the sounds created a feeling of peace and contentment.
Mischievous Melody
With a mischievous light in his eyes, the versatile singer delivered "Hochzeithed" also composed by Loewe, and such a listening experience was just plain fun! His mood of gaiety continued in "Chanson a Boire" from Ravel's "Don Quichotte a Dulcinee." Once again, as the great singer left the stage, only wonderment and thoughts of his accomplishments remained, nothing else.
Jaunty yet relaxed songs came next from the men's group with "Wait for the Wagon," Buckley, as the first choice, sung with ardent feeling that spread to the audience. A song for the sake of man as well as for music, "Blow Ye Winds" was done with manly force and joyfulness.
The chorus, along with Warfield's solo in "Shenandoah" by Dougherty, presented what very well may have been the high point of the evening, a rolling, sincere tribute to song, winning the avid appreciation of everyone.
Warfield's next selections included old American songs arranged by Aaron Copland. The atmosphere again lightened with the debonair "The Little Horses" which would have left many children with happy dreams of a black, bay, dapple, and a grey. In "Shall We Gather at the River," Warfield captured a deep spirituality and seemed to offer it to each of his listeners as a personal gift. His accompanist was the very able Otto Herz.

As the final note of Warfield's closing number was still ringing in the walls, a burst of applause echoed with an almost ferocious fervor. Begging for more, the audience was completely his, caught up willingly with his dynamic personality, awed by his talent, feeling inadequate that clapping was the only means to show vast appreciation.
He swung fully into "I've Got Plenty of Nothing" from Porgy and Bess, and "Taint Necessarily So." Although each would have listened eagerly all night to such magnificent singing, a hint of finality appeared to engulf the audience after "Old Man River," as if anything more would be anticlimactic.
The chorus appeared again to close the program with the rollicking "Great Day" by Youmans, done with admirable feeling and sincerity and then drifted into the melancholy "Halls of Ivy." Russell, always a favorite. The formal program ended with Jacobs' "This is My Country," which was a bold, proud, and moving delivery by the chorus.
Encores were demanded and "You'll Never Walk Alone" from Carousel was presented with convincing feeling and rhythm. The MacDowell chorus, Conductor Edwin Zordel and Accompanist Mrs. Leone Ferron certainly deserve a salute for a fine evening of music, chosen thoughtfully to please the true music intellect and those who don't know a flat from an automobile tire. They also deserve a salute for the appearance of William Warfield, the man, the artist, the magician in music.

State Colleges
Build Thrifty
Dormitories

Capital Cost
Averaging About
$2,700 Per Student

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The state college system is learning how to build student dormitories thriftily.

Dormitory facilities for men and women at the swiftly growing state colleges — which have long since exhausted private dwelling space in their cities — can be provided at a capital cost of $2,700 per occupant, E. R. McPhee of the college administration has reported to the state building commission.

He described the figure as one of the lowest he has seen for comparable standards of construction.

The building commission has authorized the college regents to embark upon a new round of state college dormitory building. New structures will be built at LaCrosse, River Falls, Stout and Whitewater colleges, without direct cost to the state treasury.

Will Borrow Funds
Money for the investment will be borrowed from the U. S. home and finance agency, a national government department, at favorable interest rates. Repayments will be out of rental income, over a 40 year period, as in other recent housing projects of the college regents.

The relatively low cost structures are standard in design for each of the colleges. There are no eating arrangements or other auxiliary facilities to raise the cost, in contrast to similar dormitory construction on the University of Wisconsin campus, for example.

Another major college campus construction project is expected to be underway by late June. The commission has authorized the solicitation of bids for a combination physical education and health building at River Falls State college, on the far western edge of the state, at an estimated cost of $1 million.

Gives Organs
To 700 Ohio
Congregations

BY RICHARD H. SMITH
Cleveland — An elderly man who calls God his "silent partner" is spending a half million dollars to buy electronic organs for 700 Ohio churches.

Installation begins this month. At a rate of 15 a week, the instruments will be distributed to churches of more than a dozen denominations in each of Ohio's 88 counties.

Each two-manual organ, worth about $1,300 retail and about the size of a spinet piano, will be marked with a small brass plaque saying:

"God given through Claude Foster."

Now 85, Foster has been retired since 1925. In the last 10 years he has been working hard at giving money away — some $6 million.

Churches Need Organs

Most of the fortune Foster amassed by inventing and manufacturing the Gabriel auto horn and Gabriel snubber he gave away in a single night. At a dinner in a downtown hotel July 21, 1952, he handed out checks totaling nearly $4 million to Western Reserve university, 10 hospitals and 5 orphanages.

But when the big, ruddy-complexioned man with sparse white hair talks about the church organs, you suspect this might be the charity that pleases him most.

"Since 1910 I've traveled through the south by auto," Foster said. "When I come to a church Sunday morning, I stop and go. Maybe it's a small church. I've heard some of the best sermons I've heard anywhere in little country churches."

"But when the people get up after hearing a good sermon and try to sing to the good Lord with an old out-of-tune piano, it grates on you."

"This scheme has been growing in my mind for many years. To me a church was never a church without an organ."

Thoughts of a new father

He is remembering the very first time he saw his wife and baby together—there in the strange hospital room. A flood of love and pride had suddenly welled up in him. And they had seemed so totally dependent on him that it might have been frightening.

But it wasn't frightening—then or now. On his side are youth, strength, ambition. And now a family to encourage him on.

And he has the sure, dependable backing of his life insurance—with its answer to the question, "What would happen to them, if something happened to me?"

Note that it's called life insurance. That's a reminder of its second job: insuring a more confident life for the man who owns it.

2,500 Attend First Family Fair Exhibits

Wholesome-Group Recreation Stressed at Community Council Program; Ends Tonight

Neenah — "The family that plays together stays together" is the theme that prompted the Community Council's youth division to set up its first Family fair at the Boys Brigade building, the first time such an affair has been tried in the state.

Emphasis was on the family doing things as a family, whether it be playing games which one can easily make, in hobbies such as stamps or mounting butterflies, in crafts such as art or leatherwork, in travel, in camping or in reading.

About 2,500 persons visited the exhibits in Sunday afternoon's showing and the second session will be from 6 to 9 o'clock this evening.

Over at one corner of the gymnasium were three of the county's extension agents who showed how to set up various types of barbecues and who handed out recipes for making a picnic success.

Tenting Display
In another area of the gym two different types of tents were set up with the necessary equipment items on display and printed suggestions of advice for campers. The American Automobile association had a display table from which visitors could get information about various scenic sites that would be a good destination for a family vacation.

Menasha Historical society displayed some historical items from Menasha's history and distributed leaflets on his- toric sites to see, both locally and around the state. Both the company, Manitowoc, which has published the Neenah-Men- asha city directory for many years and which is now solicit- ing advertising and listings for its latest edition.

The St. Paul firm says it pro- poses to publish an independ- ent directory known as a busi- ness directory for distribution in selected cities in Wisconsin. Konrad made it clear that the pot-chamber was not advising them to take good pictures was company, but merely pointing out that it is unknown in this area.

'Dagger' Critics Of Schools Hit By Educator

L. J. Stiles, UW Dean, Calls for More Sanity To Improve System

Oshkosh — Dean Lindley J. Stiles of the University of Wis- consin school of education sug- gested Friday that the needle not the dagger, is the best in- strument to improve American schools.

"An atmosphere is being cre- ated against elementary and secondary schools today that leaves anyone who has not driven his dagger into the pu- tion meeting Thursday at Ger- mania hall.

Officers are Steven Patoka, president; Robert Vanbiervliet, vice president; Michael Mik- ich, treasurer; Betty Resch, secretary, and Florence Resch, director.

Calling for more sanity and less hysteria in the efforts to improve the American educa- tional system, Dean Stiles pointed out that today anyone who desires to call attention to the strength as well as to ex- amine the weaknesses of our schools "needs the wisdom, psychological insight, and or- ational skill of a Mark Antony."

Seek Vindication
"He deals with an audience that is being told that estab- lished school patterns and practices, like Caesar, deserve to fall. Those who have al- ready discharged their daggers seek only vindication; others hesitate whether to join the massacre or to lend their ef- forts to the search for truth about the schools," he said.

Wisconsin was never the home of the objectionable as- pects of progressive education, for our schools have continued through the years to empha- size intellectual development as the primary goal of education, he pointed out. "Considering the conditions under which they have had to operate during the past 10 years, Wisconsin schools included will be assigned read- ing and written assign- ments outside the class and taken to educate an additional problem solving, review and 12,000 children each year while discussion in the classroom.

Prerequisites required are training in college level courses in introductory, intermediate, advanced cost and government- accounting, auditing and financial income tax.

Harold DeBaun, associate professor of commerce at the University of Wisconsin, will be the instructor. A minimum en- rollment of 16 people is neces- sary before the course will be held.

Menasha — A Neenah youth was fined $50 and costs for failing to report an accident and a Menasha man was fined a total of $28 on two violations, by Menasha Police Justice Ar- thur Ales this morning.

Edward L. Boehm, 54, 538 Sixth street, pleaded guilty of failing to stop for a stop sign and driving with an expired driver's license and was fined $10 and costs on each count. Boehm's car was involved in an accident with a car driven by William M. Brown, 429 High street, at the intersection of Seventh and Manitowoc streets at 4:33 Friday afternoon.

Fined $5, Costs

Neenah — Owen C. Dalton, 35, 415 Union street, pleaded guilty of drunkenness this morning and was fined $5 and costs by Police Justice Ed- mund P. Arpin.

He was arrested at 8:40 Sun- day evening in front of an E. Wisconsin avenue tavern. The tavern owner said he was us- ing abusive language and try- ing to fight with the other pa- trons.

Dalton was kept overnight in the Menasha jail.

issues and problems are essen- tial. The basic goal should al- ways be to conserve and de- velop to a maximum the intel- lectual abilities of all. Real courage will be needed to re- train the best of the old edu- cational programs while adapt- ing schools to meet new respon- sibilities if we are to survive during our complex space age."

Dean Stiles concluded.

THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW

Symbolic of the earlier days of American pharmacy was the lighted lamp in the drugstore window. All through the night it glowed, a beacon of hope, a symbol of unselfish service.

Although the historic lamp is now practically extinct, the fundamentals of pharmaceutical practice have changed but little. The responsibilities of the pharmacist are greater today than ever before — he is a vital factor in medical care.

Every mile you drive... to school... to the grocery... wherever you drive, Keotane gets your engine cleaner, cleaner, cleaner.

Yes, Just By Driving with Keotane, You Can

Drive Your Engine Clean

Skelly is the only gasoline with Keotane. Keotane "unglues" dirty carbon and lead deposits — as you drive — to give you over 6c extra value per gallon at no extra cost.

WHY is it so important to have an engine that's clean? Well, you know it's no fun to fight traffic with an engine that's sluggish and slow. You want an engine that will respond instantly to the touch of your toe on the accelerator.

This sluggishness is often caused by dirty carbon and lead deposits that build up on vital engine parts. You can get rid of them quickly and easily, just by driving with Skelly Supreme with Keotane... the cleaning, cleaning gasoline.

All you do is just drive — no more, no less than you normally do — and every mile you drive Keotane is at work to get your engine cleaner, cleaner, cleaner.

A Keotane-Clean engine makes driving a pleasure again. You'll like the new "feel"...

you'll appreciate its new zip and power when your engine is relieved of that burden of smothering carbon and lead deposits.

Because of Keotane, every gallon of Skelly Supreme Gasoline gives you an estimated 6.1c extra value per gallon, including an average of 12.7% more mileage, 14.6% more horsepower output, and the performance effect of 3.1 extra octane points you get with an engine that's Keotane-Clean.

You can easily prove Keotane's most valuable benefit — extra mileage — to yourself. Just ask your Skellyman for a free Skelly Mileage Meter!

Only Skelly Supreme Gasoline Gives You 6.1c Extra Value Per Gallon with Keotane

6.1c makes other premium gasoline expensive to use; 6.1c makes any regular gasoline expensive to use; 6.1c makes any "cut rate" gasoline expensive to use.

Three Youths Confess 23 Burglaries

17-Year-Olds Admit Entry at Freedom Firm

Three DePere youths, who have admitted to DePere police a series of 23 burglaries and safe-cracking jobs in DePere, Green Bay, and rural Brown and Outagamie counties, appeared this morning in Green Bay municipal court.

Each youth waived reading of information charging them with four counts of burglary and requested preliminary hearings, set for May 27.

They are Douglas Brosig, 18, DePere; David Perock, 17, route 1, West DePere; and David J. Borman, 17, West DePere. All three had lawyers.

Bond for each was set at $2,000, posted by Brosig and Perock. Borman was held in jail.

The youths got as high as $525 from a service station in Green Bay and as low as 50 cents in their thefts. They burglarized clubs, filling stations and assorted businesses, police said.

Freedom Burglary

The youths confessed entering the Freedom Lumber company and attempting to open a safe Jan. 23.

The safe was damaged but approximately $500 in the safe was not taken.

The youths got $11 from the center drawer of a steel desk, which they pried open. Outagamie Sheriff's Lt. Jack Zuelzke was to go to Green Bay this afternoon to question the youths about other Outagamie county robberies.

Other Burglaries

Dist. Atty. Robert Pettifear said the burglaries included 16 in DePere, 2 in Green Bay, 4 others in Brown county and the Freedom entry in Outagamie county.

The youths were caught as a result of news stories about a raid on a doctor's office. One youth cut his wrist and took several bandages from the physician's rooms.

Last Friday another of the trio, his wrist bandaged because of a sprain, tried to buy an undershirt at a department store. The clerk became suspicious because of the news about the stolen bandages and because the youth could not explain where he got the new $5 he tendered the clerk.

The clerk phoned police, and the arrests followed.

Fire of unknown origin swept through the 1-story, frame home of the William Greil family, 1018 W. Kamps avenue, early Sunday morning, causing damage estimated at upwards of $10,000.

The fire apparently started in the kitchen, scene of excessive damage, traveled part way down the cellar steps and burst through part of the roof. Chief Paul Neumann said.

Neumann said no one in the family was home when the fire came about 3:10 Sunday morning. State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe, Neumann and Appleton Fire Inspector Robert F. of furniture are salvageable, he said. There was not much damage to the exterior of the house.

Two pumpers laid down two lines of hose for slightly more than an hour and a single rig was called back about 5:06 to extinguish a smoldering mattress.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Greil were available for comment this morning. Mrs. Greil is known to be staying at the home of a daughter.

Firemen answered one other call over the weekend. They put out a fire in the carburetor distributor and filter of an automobile owned by Ray McClone, 1107 E. Moorpark avenue and parked at 1300 N. Meade street about 12:30 Saturday afternoon.

Spahn Chalks Up 4th Straight Victory; Winners Get 6 Doubles

St. Louis — Steady Warren Spahn confined last-place St. Louis to five hits Sunday as the Milwaukee Braves wrought a 7-2 victory from their 13-hit attack.

The 37-year-old southpaw posting his fourth 1958 victory, gave up three troublesome doubles, one by Del Ennis and two by Stan Musial, who now has hit in 15 consecutive games.

Musial blooped a third-inning double, scoring losing pitcher "Vinegar Bend" Mizell, who had opened with a single.

Musial led off the sixth inning with a double and scored on the next play when Ennis doubled.

Appleton High Linksmen Keep Record Clean

Win 2nd Straight Quadrangular; Terrors Led by Schuettler's 79

The 1958 Appleton High school golf team, which is reviving the sport at the Terror institution after a quarter-century lapse, kept its record perfect Saturday with an unexpectedly easy quadrangular victory on a wet Butte des Morts course.

The Terrors Saturday chopped 22 strokes off their quadrangular meet-winning score of the preceding week at Fond du Lac. The five AHS performers Saturday used 420 strokes in the competition against Oshkosh, Green Bay East and Green Bay West, who finished in that order.

Dave Schuettler carded a 42-37 to pace the Terror effort. His was just one shot off the

Ted Extends Runless String to 14 Innings; 3rd Baseman's Clout Downs Cedar Rapids, 6 to 5

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Fox Cities' first weekend of Class B baseball was an unqualified success, artistically as well as financially. The Three-I league Foxes swept a pair of games from Cedar Rapids—putting a thrilling 6-5 Sunday night triumph back-to-back with a 6-0 Saturday night win. The first two games, played in something less than ideal weather, drew a total of 4,905 paid admissions. In tonight's "Ladies Night" game the Foxes bid for their first series sweep of the young season with Oshkosh's Bill O'Donnell slated to pitch against Cedar Rapids. Feminine fans will be admitted on a 25-cent service charge.

Sadowski Hurls 5-Hitter Van Dyke Clinches Win

Fast-balling Ted Sadowski Bob Van Dyke muscled a 3-spun an elegant 5-hit shutout run homer over the left center against Cedar Rapids Saturday field barrier in the seventh inning Sunday night to give the counter-attacking Fox Cities a suspense-packed 6-5 victory over Cedar Rapids.

Van Dyke's blazing bat — which has produced 10 hits, including six for extra bases, and eight RBIs in six games — warmed up the surprisingly good-sized gathering of 523 fans who populated a thoroughly-refrigerated Goodland field.

Foxes Overhauled

Van Dyke's line shot, off Luis De Leon, one of the Raiders' pitching aces, went into the teeth of a brisk wind and traveled at least 340 feet to get to the wall.

Vikes' Mulford Sets School Mark in 880

Lawrence college's Dave Mulford zipped to the fastest half mile in the school's history — a sensational 1:56.9 — as the Vikings were losing a dual meet to Knox 68-61 at Knox Saturday.

In breaking the 2-minute barrier for the first time in his career in a regular season 880 run, Mulford smashed the old Lawrence half mile record of 1:59.2 set by Bill Severin in 1951. Mulford's record also was just tenths of a second off the Mid-west conference record.

The junior flash also turned in a brilliant anchor leg for the winning Viking mile relay team following Ted Sum-

Fox Cities Fans Enthusiastic Over First Look at Three-I League Ball

BY MIKE DREW Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A crowd of 3,482 festive Fox Cities baseball fans went out to the ball game Saturday night and came away enthusiastic over what they saw.

The fans roared for the prime team did a bit of hooting at the umpires and the opposition and, in general, deported themselves as fans will—that is, enjoyed themselves immensely.

Contributing greatly to the fun was a solid 6-0 thrashing of strong Cedar Rapids — an Payne Sparks Offenses Catcher Bob Payne, the other half of the Foxes' super-charged battery, sparked the offensive against starter and loser Jim King with a 2-run homer and a pair of run producing singles.

Only two batters were needed to put the Foxes out front to stay. Lead-offman Bob Tano doubled and "Tex" Taylor shot him home with a single.

A large, enthusiastic crowd watched the Foxes add to their total in the third, fifth and seventh.

Bluejays' Sedlak Hurls 2nd Shutout; Rochester Wins, 11-3

By The Associated Press
If the competition is as keen through the season as it was the first week, the Class B Three I league will have a top-flight pennant race.
Following Sunday's games, only 14 games separated last-place Cedar Rapids from front-running Davenport and the Green Bay Bluejays, and only a half-game separates the top five teams.
Green Bay's Bob Sedlak has yielded no runs and only nine hits in winning his first two starts. He stopped Burlington on a 5-hitter Sunday, 4-0, after opening with a 4-hit conquest of Davenport last week.
In other games, Fox Cities nipped Cedar Rapids, 6-5, and Rochester rocked Davenport, 11-3.
Homers by Jim Simmons, Rick Rogers and Roy Seery supported Don McFarland's 6-hit victory for Rochester. Simmons' blast was good for three runs in the first inning. McFarland allowed only two hits until the ninth.

Fort Worth, Tex.—A nervous but even-tempered Tommy Bolt—the "new" Bolt—was steady down the stretch even in his first head-to-head battle with the grim, calculating Ben Hogan yesterday.
Thus he won the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation tournament.
Bolt snapped back from a staggering first nine and pocketed $5,000 for his 2-over-par 282 for 72 holes.
Hogan faltered in the stretch final round. Kroll had a 70.

Country club course.
Venturi won $3,000 for second place. Finishing in a tie for third and winning $1,900 each were Ted Kroll, Sarasota, Fla., and Gardner Dickinson, Panama City Beach, Fla., each with 284. Dickinson shot a 69 on the final round. Kroll had a 70.

Clintonville's 9-Run Ninth Brings Victory

Clintonville — Clintonville bounced Caroline, 12-8 in opening day BABA action with a 9-run outburst in the ninth inning Sunday at Caroline.
Right fielder Gene Beckman capped the surge with a resounding 3-run homer over the center field fence. Louie Kort, who relieved starter Ben Hoppe in the fifth, was the winner. Loser Faye Mehlberg eased in to the ninth protecting an 8-3 lead with a 13 strike-out performance.
Beckman singled in the first. Athletic run in the second. Caroline quickly retaliated against Hoppe when McHugh drilled a base-loaded double good for three counters in the third.
2-Run Home Run
Les Mehlberg added to this with a 2-run homer an inning later and Caroline subsequently put across two more in the fifth and a singleton in the sixth for an 8 to 1 margin.
In the Clintonville eighth, schele singled Jerry Schnoor, poked a double to plate one. Jirschele then scored on a balk. This flurry proved to be a warm-up for the exciting ninth.
Marty Splitzgerber led off the ninth with a solo homer. The Athletics then combined four singles, three walks, an error, a wild pitch, and Beckman's climactic blast to sew up the victory for the defending champions.

Hortonville Nine Defeats Valley Fair

Hortonville pitchers struck out 21 Appleton Valley Fair batters in posting a 6-5 victory in an exhibition game at Hortonville Sunday.
Hortonville starter Lenny Heininger fanned nine but walked 11 and allowed four hits in the first four innings. Winner Russ Tiedemann, who finished, struck out 12, walked none and allowed no hits in the last five frames.
Dave Trinrud, who hurled three innings for the losers, got the loss.
Hortonville won the game with five runs in the seventh inning, after trailing 5-1 going into the frame.
Dick Watson rapped a pair of doubles for the winners, driving in two runs. Ron Roehl hit a 3-run homer for the losers in the second.

Tim Tam's Rider Valenzuela Took Advantage of 'Break'

Louisville, Ky. — From $40 a month to over $10,000 a day is a pretty big jump for a man in any business.
But for Ismael "Milo" Valenzuela it merely points up his meteoric rise as one of this country's most promising jockeys.
Twelve years ago the Texas-born but Mexican-raised jockey was drawing $40 a month plus his keep and a small stake when he won a good race around El Paso, Tex., and in New Mexico and Arizona.
The 23-year-old jockey rode Tim Tam to the second richest Kentucky Derby in history Saturday, piloting the Calumet farm colt to a half length victory.
Milo is one of 22 children — 12 of whom are living. He started his career at the age of 11 riding quarter horses. Milo sent most of his winning home to help his poverty-stricken family on a farm hit by the drought near Porbenir, Mexico just below the Rio Grande where he was raised.
He graduated into the big time in 1952 at Denver and moved to California race tracks in 1953.
This was his first Kentucky derby. When Bill Hartack broke his leg, Milo was called upon.

Harshman's 5-Hitter Beats Tigers, 4-0

Orioles Sweep Pair; Senators Climb to Within Game of N. Y.

By The Associated Press

Four months ago, nobody wanted Jack Harshman. Now nobody can beat him. The left-handed pitcher, traded by the Chicago White Sox to Baltimore last December, has been a lifesaver for the Orioles. He hurled a 5-hit shutout yesterday as Baltimore swept a double-header from Detroit, 4-3 and 4-0.

Harshman, still unbeaten this season, has won half his team's eight victories. Yet, last January, the Orioles wanted to return him to Chicago when they learned he was suffering from a slipped disc. The baseball commissioner ruled that Baltimore must keep Harshman but should be compensated with an additional player.

Senators Win
The surprising Washington Senators climbed to within a game of the front-running New York Yankees, defeating Kansas City, 7-2. The second game was halted by rain after nine innings with the score deadlocked at 2-2.

Cleveland and Boston split, the Indians winning the first game, 2-1, and the Red Sox taking the second by the same score in 12 innings.

Another pre-season trade paid off for Baltimore Manager Paul Richards when outfielder Gene Woodling hit a 2-run homer in

Ted Sadowski Blanks Raiders

The Foxes sold 4,382 booster buttons—tops in the Three-I league for opening-game admissions. And, their actual game crowd of 3,482 was second only to Cedar Rapids' 3,769. Cedar Rapids drew its turn-out on a sunny, 72-degree Sunday afternoon.

After a heavy Friday night rain and the threatening, slow-drying weather of Saturday morning, there was some doubt of whether the opener could be played as scheduled. The field, however, was nursed into playable condition, and the weatherman cooperated with a relatively warm, comfortable night.

Sharp Defensive Plays
Both teams came up with crowd-pleasing defensive plays that helped Class B ball step into the Fox Cities in a best-foot forward manner. Utility man Tano, playing only his second game at shortstop for the Foxes, was a particular stand-out. He handled five assists flawlessly, including a couple of plays that would have challenged the most experienced shortstop.

Sadowski had trouble only with second baseman Bob Knoop. He rapped a double and two singles, 60 per cent of the Raider safety quota.

In five of the nine innings, the Raiders went down, 1-2-3, before Sadowski who struck out four and continued exercising marvelous control. He gave no bases on balls, lengthening his walkless string to 16 straight innings. Sadowski, who speared the Foxes' first two victories and has achieved the team's only two complete games, walked only one at Davenport—in the second inning.

The Foxes, who collected 10 hits and got the benefit of nine walks, had been on base every inning.

Greets King
In the first inning, right-handed hitting Tano greeted southpaw King with a shot along the right field line for two bases. Taylor, only Fox to hit safely in each of the first five games, lined a single to center for the run.

The Foxes went ahead by two in the third inning after a pair rain of less than 24 hours before, thanks to the devoted efforts of volunteer workers who burned gasoline on the muddy areas throughout the afternoon. The white foul lines, on deck circles etc., contrasted sharply with the deep green of the grass.

The Foxes were resplendent in their white home uniforms with black piping as were the Raiders in their travelling greys. White-clothed concessionaires scurried through the stands making sales. Counting the huge concession receipts after the game brought a broad smile to the face of Business Manager Bob Willis.

Three-I League President Hal Totten told the crowd, during pre-game ceremonies, that "I'm looking forward to one of the greatest years any minor league city has known here this summer."

Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell wished the Foxes the "best of everything" and then introduced mayors and village presidents from other communities in the Fox Cities. Master of ceremonies Bob Lloyd presented the Foxes and Cedar Rapids Raiders to the crowd and then brought out a "rookie who just joined the club"—75-year-old clubhouse manager George Stewart.

Mitchell then tossed out the first pitch—a ball, low and outside. Ace righthander Ted Sadowski got only four hours sleep before hurling his brilliant 5-hitter Saturday night. The Foxes left Burlington immediately after rain halted their Friday night game, and drove into Appleton about 6:30 Saturday morning.

Ted got to bed about 10 o'clock in the morning and was up again at 2 o'clock. "That's why I didn't walk anybody," the tired Sadowski joked after the game. "I didn't want to stay out too late tonight."

The 22-year-old righthander, who was bothered by arm trouble last season, still has soreness in his flipper after pitching, but Saturday he didn't mind it a bit.

His batterymate, Bib "Chick" Payne, said that Sadowski's fastball "was really live." Payne, who drove in four runs, modestly asserted in the dressing room that four "was more than I drove in all last year at Wilson, I think."

The Foxes' Saturday fielding hero, good-natured shortstop Bob Tano, pointed out after the game that he has had less game experience at shortstop than at any other spot of the many he plays. He'd never played it, in a regulation game, until this season.

Cuban-native Tano, who received slight spike marks on his leg while making a sensational diving tag at second base Saturday, received a number of gifts for Foxes' "firsts".

He received a 2-pound box of candy for being the first player to reach third base, a cigarette lighter for whacking the Foxes' first double at home and a $5.50 meal ticket for scoring the first run.

Payne picked up two shirts and a free dinner at a local

With that kind of devotion, how can the venture fail?

Providence was good to the Foxes Saturday. The electric scoreboard in right field didn't go into operation until Saturday morning and the club's programs didn't arrive until Saturday afternoon.

Adds were being painted on the outfield fence throughout the afternoon.

Among the notables in attendance Saturday night were former Wisconsin State League President Duane Brown, Madison, and former Papermaker first baseman Don Riedl.

Bowman, who was wearing a Foxes' button, said that he doesn't think minor league ball will ever return to Madison.

"There's too much competition there from University of Wisconsin athletics," he said.

After the game Totten praised Willis for a "terrific job" of preparation for the season.

pace set by the meet medalist, Oshkosh's Schubart. Jerry Parker, a newcomer to the fivesome this week, shot an 80 for Coach Dick Emmanuel's winners. The other AHS scores were 81 (40-41) by Bob Bauman; 88 (44-44) by Mike Smock; and 92 (46-46) by Bob Ferrel.

Oshkosh, which also finished second to the Terrors in the Fondy meet, was 20 strokes behind this time with a 440. In the inaugural match, the Indians had come within three shots of AHS.

High-regarded Green Bay reported that cars were parked up to five blocks away from the field.

East, which played without one of its best scorers, Tom Nelson, came in third with 461. East's By Prentice, usually East's sharpest shooter, scored an 88, second on the team to Rosenberg, who had an 82.

West, with two of its players carding astronomical scores, finished a distant fourth with 542.
